"THE FIFTH FREEDOM"

There's been so much about the four freedoms, it might be appropriate to mention a fifth freedom. It's not really a freedom, but anyone can have it free of charge.

The establishment of the four freedoms is the great idea, and entirely idealistic. Utopia is a fine idea also. The four freedoms ought to be established all over the world, on all the continents. One hundred or so圣诞节s of freedom from want, Those in favor of sobbing from the face of the earth would signify by saying, "Yes." One hundred percent.

The trouble is, the small clique of warmakers in Washington, aided and abetted by radio tramps, strangers, and even college presidents (please, don't laugh) and assorted crackpots - generally usually ignore a thing such as that as a signal that the people of this country are for immediate participation in a stupid, suicidal conflict in Asia and Africa, Of course they are not capable of themselves of establishing even one of the four freedoms in any small continent in America - so now they wish to take on the whole coked world. Unlike the average every people of the United States, check this trend toward thing thoroughly unwise, impractical and grandiose, scheme, it is going to cost the people, plenty, not only in dollars and sweat and tears, but in life itself.

Here's a fifth freedom which all the world wishes to see, established. It is freedom from interference. The people of all nations, want freedom from interference in their affairs be dictators, impractical theorists, reformers and idealists, particularly those of other nations who love to give advice to people, thousands of miles from their land. The people of the world want freedom from war, freedom from oppression, coercion, machine, and destruction. The bombing of young and old, freedom from unjust and inhuman policies which only solution, from time to time. The best, the most important, the noblest of the work of God, man.

If you can't put out a fire by adding fuel to it, you can't put out a fire by adding gasoline to it. If you can't put out a fire by adding fuel to it, you can't put out a fire by adding gasoline to it. If you can't put out a fire by adding fuel to it, you can't put out a fire by adding gasoline to it. If you can't put out a fire by adding fuel to it, you can't put out a fire by adding gasoline to it. If you can't put out a fire by adding fuel to it, you can't put out a fire by adding gasoline to it.

Technical Progress in Civilisation: Murder by Machines, Mass Production

Once, I would imagine, that is one who was born yesterday - to hear the radio ranters tell it, that there was not such a thing as war before 1914, ex-paparazzi made his appearance on the scene. But those things have been going on for ages; sensible people wish to avoid them. The only difference between wars now and then is that they are worse, the killing is done by machine, the slaughter is on a mechanized, mass production, basis.

That means that if the United States participates in this current war it is participating in total war. Wars are not unimportant arrangements. And wars are not fought and won by those who shout off their mouths.

Significant Note

One of the most rabid of the hysterical alarmists, we note by their appearance, is going to spend his vacation in August, in the service. But, if he does, fellow war is not home, anything you undertake in your vacation, or spare time, during a war, or on the battlefield, or during a bombing, attack, the whole thing is not called off, or suspended, with this announcement from, the enemy. "Because of previous commercial commitments, we are obliged to leave, you now and return to our studio to resume broadcast activities. So, until next week, at this very same time, we suggest that we call off this war."

Let us not meddle any more in the tangled affairs of Europe and Asia. They are entanglements. We are obliged to leave, you now and return to our studio to resume broadcast activities. So, until next week, at this very same time, we suggest that we call off this war. The people who satiated, fed up.

They know, if the naive, idealistic and columnists do not, that...
